

TPD Privacy Policy

At Theft-Proof Data LLC (TPD) we recognize that your privacy is very important. This Privacy Policy applies to all of the products, services and Websites offered by TPD.

Our Privacy Policy is very simple and is based on the fact that the less we know about you, the better we can serve you:

- We do not collect any personal information.
- We collect your email address and you can change or delete it at any time.
- We do not share, trade, or sell your email address.
- We do not use cookies or other personalization methods.
- We do not use Web beacons, Web bugs, or similar tracking methods.
- We do not use adware or spyware
- We do not send spam.
- We do not create or collect behavioral profiles.
- We do not collect your IP address.
- We do not permit banner or popup ads.

We do collect your email address and password. By using our Website you are granting us permission to contact you under the terms of our End User License Agreement. We may be required to share your email address to (i) comply with law, (ii) enforce or apply the terms of any of our user agreements, (iii) protect our rights, property or safety or those of others, or (iv) become involved in a business divestiture, sale, merger, or acquisition of all or a part of our business.

We recognize that when you choose to provide us with your email address and you trust us to act in a responsible manner. We will store it with no less than the same reasonable level of care we store our own proprietary and confidential information.

We reserve the right to change this policy at any time. It is our intent to make changes only to the extent necessary to comply with applicable laws, improve functionality, or improve your options for managing your privacy and building trust. If it becomes necessary to make changes to this policy, such changes will be indicated and will be effective on the date the new policy.

Should you have any questions or concerns about this privacy policy, please contact us.

This privacy policy was last modified on December 7, 2009 and will change whenever we think of better ways to protect your privacy.
